Danville:
FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 1, 1861.
LOCAL.

Original Story.

We commence the publication in this number of an Original Story, from the pen of our fair correspondent "Violet Woods," a favorite with all our readers. It will probably go through about three numbers.

Hon. J. F. Bell left his home in this place for Washington, on yesterday morning.

Our Senior has received from Mr. JOHN KANE, of Harrodsburg, a fine pair of excellent Boots, just such as John knows how to make. He will accept our thanks for his kind remembrance of old friends, and we take pleasure in again recommending him to the people of Mercer, as a gentleman every way worthy their esteem, confidence, and patronage.

The Stars and Stripes.

A considerable amount of funds has been subscribed by the citizens of our town and county during the past few days to purchase a large national flag—with all the stars and stripes—to be hoisted in this place. Due notice of the time of the flag raising will be given. Good speaking and patriotic music, with a national salute from the "Anvil Artillery," may be expected on the occasion.

The February Term of our Circuit Court commences on Monday next. The Grand Jury will be in attendance as usual, but no standing juries have been summoned, owing to the difficulty of procuring suitable rooms for Court purposes.

The meeting at the Presbyterian Church still continues, with unabated interest. A large number have connected themselves with the Church, and many others are nightly presenting themselves for prayer.

All honor to our Representative, A. H. SNED, Esq. He has stood manfully for the Union. He was one of the immortal six who voted against the mischievous and uncalculated resolutions of Ewing. His grandfather fought the battles of '76, and he is standing up against rebellion in '61. Little Boyle, in her heart of hearts, is true to the Union.

The Legislature.

No definite action has been taken in either House on the Convention question. The report of the majority of the Committee on Federal Relations in the House is highly conservative in sentiment. It is generally conceded, we believe, that no Convention will be called.

The Hon. Joseph R. Underwood took his seat in the lower House of the Kentucky Legislature, on Monday, having been elected on Saturday last, to supply the vacancy from Warren co., caused by the resignation of Pleasant Hines.

Death of Gov. Letcher.

After an illness of several months, the late Governor ROBERT P. LETCHER, departed his life at the residence in Frankfort, on Thursday night last. Appropriate resolutions were adopted by the Legislature and the funeral attended by both Houses.

Kentucky furnishes a larger number of members in the Missouri Legislature, than any other State. The whole number is 133, of whom 39 were born in Kentucky, 33 in Tennessee, 22 in Virginia, and 15 in Missouri.

Kansas a State.

Since our last issue the bill admitting Kansas into the Union as a State, has passed both Houses of Congress.

The flag of the Seceding States has fifteen stars. We hope they will strike off at least one more. Kentucky repudiates it, and hoists the glorious stars and stripes of the Union.

The House of Representatives of our Legislature has passed by a vote of 78 to 7, a resolution appropriating $500 to defray the expenses of each of the Commissioners to Washington.

An Important Move.

A petition, signed by a large number of the lawyers of the Louisville bar, has been presented to Judge Muir, of the Jefferson Circuit Court, requesting him to adjourn the civil docket of the Court till the May term. The papers applaud the course as advisable and eminently commendable at this time of general oppression among business men. The difficulty of raising money or disposing of property at any thing like a fair price, is the reason that prompts this petition.

Louisiana Seceded.

The Ordinance of Secession, prepared by a Committee of the Louisiana Convention, in obedience to the instructions of that body, was passed on Saturday last, by a vote of 113 to 17 rays.

The Convention then adjourned from Baton Rouge to New Orleans.

This is the sixth State that has taken steps to dissolve its connection with the Federal Government.

Rhode Island has repealed her personal liberty law; Massachusetts, it is said, will repeal hers; and the conservative element in the Pennsylvania Legislature, is said to be sufficient to secure a repeal of a similar law there.

Union in Tennessee.

The Nashville Banner learns from private letters that the Union sentiment is on the increase in East Tennessee, and that no disunionists will be elected to the Convention from that section.

The Meeting of the Working and Business Men on Saturday last.

Agreeably to a previous announcement, quite a large number of the Working and Business Men of Danville, assembled in the commodious Furniture Ware-room of Messrs. Nichols & Hannaford on Saturday night last. The object of the meeting was to form a Working and Business Men's Association, and to adopt a Constitution and By-Laws for the government of the organization.

It was indeed a pleasant sight to see the "bone and sinew of the land"—the Working Man from his shop and the Business Man from his counting room—meeting together for the purpose of banding themselves together as an Association, so that they might be better prepared to exert their united influence in favor of their country, in this hour of sorest need. All who were there seemed to be fully impressed with the importance of the movement that was about to be inaugurated. They seemed to feel, that as Working and Business Men, they had a work to perform, and that the time to perform that work was now at hand.

They had met together in order to give an expression of their united voice to the beloved Union, which had fostered and protected their rights and their liberties in times past, and which was fully competent to do so in the future. They had met together to say that our national banner—the glorious old stars and stripes—which has waved over us in the past, and which we are proud to call our own, has, as a nation, advanced to an unparalleled degree of prosperity, should still wave over us in the future, and that the time would never come to see its place usurped by the hideous rattle snake banner of South Carolina, or the traitorous emblem of any other "independent sovereignty."

The organization of the Working and Business classes of the land into Associations, is what the necessity of the times most emphatically demands, and we are happy to say that we are not alone in our movement. The Working and Business Men of the seventh and eighth Wards of the City of Louisville, held a meeting the other evening, and a committee was appointed to draft a Constitution and By-Laws, which were to be submitted to the club for their adoption at a subsequent meeting. And from other portions of the city, we learn that similar efforts are being made for the success of this movement. Let us but become firmly united and cemented together, and let us exert our combined and potent influence in favor of the Union of the States, and we have it in our power to administer a wholesome and crushing rebuke to the traitors and political demagogues, who are seeking the disruption of the Federal compact.

The meeting on Saturday night, was called to order by Mr. W. C. Lucas, who in a few words explained the object of the meeting, and urged the necessity of a permanent organization. After the reading of the minutes of several of the previous meetings, the Committee, who had been appointed to draft a Constitution and By-Laws, made their report, and presented them for the consideration of the meeting. The articles were read, and the question being put on their adoption, they were unanimously received. According to one of the provisions of the Constitution, they agree to adopt the name of the "Working and Business Men's Union Association of Boyle County," and all those who compose these two bodies, and who are desirous to be members, are privileged to become members of the Association, by signing the Constitution, and endorsing as a platform, the resolutions adopted by the Working and Business Men on the night of January 5, 1861. Article II of the Constitution declares the object of the Association to be as follows: "That while we do not regard it as any sacrifice of honor to declare our allegiance to the General Government, we believe the interests of the Working classes and Business men of the State, it shall therefore be the object of the Association to protect their rights and liberties, and to use every honorable means, as the palladium of our liberties, and cling to it as the best guarantee that we can have to protect our rights as Working and Business Men." Article IV of the Constitution provides that the officers of the Association shall consist of a President, Vice President, Treasurer, a Recording and a Corresponding Secretary—the term of office to be one month. Article I of By-Laws says the Association shall hold regular meetings on Saturday night of each week, for the transaction of business and the protection of its objects, and that the main features embraced in the Constitution and By-Laws, and as the most of the other articles relate to the government of the Association as an organization, we do not consider it as necessary to detail them.

After the Constitution had been read, the books were opened for the enrollment of members. And it was indeed a glorious sight to see those men crowding around that table, and signing their names to that Constitution, thereby declaring unmistakably for the Union, and pledging themselves to protect by every fair and honorable means, the rights of the Union, and to refrain from mentioning the fact that quite a number of the "sons of the Emerald Isle" were there, and placed their names side by side with the natives of the land, in a most emphatic manner that their adopted land is near and dear unto them, and that they are unwilling to see it torn in sunder. Yes, they are true as steel, and they have never been known to flinch from doing their duty as patriots, and of standing by the country of their adoption when she needed them, and battling side by side with the natives of the land in defence of her rights, and I know that I do not venture too much when I say that they will not hesitate for a single moment to stand up in her defence again, when necessity and the dictates of patriotism demand.

After the election of the members, the Association selected the following officers to serve for the ensuing month: President, Jos. Jackson; Vice President, Jas. H. Williamson; Treasurer, S. W. Cloward; Corresponding Secretary, Jas. F. Zimmerman; Recording Secretary, Jas. R. Muir. After the transaction of other necessary business, the meeting was addressed by several members, congratulating the Association upon the inauguration of a movement that was pregnant with so much good, and which is certainly "a right move in the right direction," and urging upon the members, the necessity of being active, and to present the necessity of being active, and to present on the ball which has such a glorious start, until it shall accumulate around it the Working and Business element of the land. In short, the speeches were full of patriotism and devotion is a constitutional disease, a corruption of the blood, by which this fluid becomes vitiated, thick and poor. Being in the circulation, it pervades the whole system, and may burst out in disease on any part of it. No organ is free from its attack, nor is there one which it may destroy. The skin is livid, and various eruptions, caused by morbid humors, low living, and disordered or unsuitable food, impure air, and other causes, are the result. It is a disease, however, which, if not cured, will be hereditary in the family, and will be transmitted to the third and fourth generation; indeed, it seems to be the role of King who says, "I will visit the iniquities of the fathers upon the children."

It effects corruption by depositing in the blood of corrupt or vitiated matter, which, in the circulation, is carried to the various organs, in the glands, swellings, and on the surface, eruptions or sores. This foul corruption, which poisons the blood, depraves the system, and is the cause of the disease, not only suffers from scrofula, but also from other diseases, which have less power to withstand the disease, and in the end, the system is destroyed. ## ODE TO THE OLD OFFICE.

The Types bid the house a fond adieu,
Slowly desert the old familiar place,
Where many boys from youth to manhood grew.

Then went their way, with slow and measured pace,
To the "New Office"—a stupendous pile—
Where things are all in a different style.

But the "Old Office," cheerful to-night,
All its departments in a sorry plight—
Upon the floor, in sad confusion, lie
The fonts of letter, all knocked into pie—
Three dead old fonts, that told such thrilling tales.

And gazed at the slowness of the mail;
That spoke so often in the country's name,
Endeavoring always to sustain the law—
Each morning heralding to every one
The good and bad by politicians done.

Announcing blow-up, hurricane, and gales,
And telling how the Lincoln made the rails;
Directing hungry men where they could find
The choicest edibles of every kind.

There turtle soup, and fish in latest style,
Could be procured by paying for a "smile."
These types are "dead" but they will live again.

And labor in the cause of other men;
The gods forbid that they should ever meet
The public eye in a distant aisle,
In that old news room not a sound is heard,
From hither or foreman not a single word.

No cry for copy, either fact or fiction,
No cursing manuscript for being mean—
No hunting "scots," or other latheration,
And no one asked to make an "alteration."

But, no more, as he cuts up the "takes,"
Tell Benny how much all his copy makes,
For him to Jim that dreads "local" might
As well be put in type to-morrow night.

The Boys have left the room forevermore,
And rats play "hide-and-seek" upon the floor.

No flock of sparrows in the Sanctum now,
No Editor is there, with aching brow,
Trying to splice his leader for the morrow,
Determined not from any one to borrow.

The gloomy job room, where, 'tis said, a ghost
Was seen at midnight leaning against a post,
Is empty now of everything heretofore,
And nothing but the goblin is there left.

Here Barnes with pleasant smile and genial grace,
Dispensed good feeling over all the place,
But he has gone, and left to the bats,
To ghosts and longitudes, and prowling cats—
In this old room his temples ne'er will throw
As he bends over some vexatious job.

Adieu, Old Office—once for all farewell—
Our kind regards for the no words can tell.

REFLECTIONS OF AN OLD MAN.

CHAPTER XIII.

"Blessed are the Peace-Makers."

The true position of Kentucky in the present crisis is to assume the stand of a pacifist. She has nothing to gain, but much to lose by throwing herself into the arms of any new confederacy North or South.

I would call to my own brethren—sons of Kentucky, to look secession square in the face, and tell me what will be our condition, when we have forsaken the "Stars and Stripes" of our glorious Union Flag, and adopted, in imitation of one of our sister States, some hideous emblem
of our separate and independent action.
For union with north or south, to secure permanent peace, is impossible. Grant that we league with the South, what will interest, save a single domestic Institution, will bind us together? The agricultural pursuits of Kentucky are as dissimilar from Cotton growing and Sugar planting of the South, as either of the two are from the Manufacturers of the North. If we cannot now abide a slight inequality of taxation and an occasional taunt from a sister State, suppose you, that in a Southern Confederacy, Kentucky would quietly submit to a direct tax upon her property, to support the civil and military establishments of the New Government?
If Kentucky is to bear her due proportion,
how is the money to be had, but by direct taxation? She has no unold lands—she has no sea board where she can exact tonnage duties—she has no great surplus in her Treasury—no rich plate or furniture, like Mexico, in her Churches, to pledge for loans. In the name of reason then I ask, can we depend on individual munificence? This resource would fail us in less than twelve months—then we must fall back on direct taxation. If this is to be our glorious Southern Confederacy,
the people of Kentucky will be worse
off in ten years than the serfs of Russia.

Disunion must come to Kentucky
act like South Carolina, stand out singly and alone, asking no counsel, but from her own noble sons; but until then let her be in her right hand the "Federal Constitution," and in her left the "Star-spangled Banner" of the Union, and say to the North and South we adjure you by the memory of Washington, Franklin, Jefferson, Madison, Jackson and Clay—
by the battles of Lexington, Yorktown, Bunker's Hill—by the blood of Warren and his companions—by every drop of blood spilt in the struggle for Independence—
by the tears of the few survivors of the Revolution—by all you hold dear
on earth, to desert from your work of ruin and death. A dissolution of the Union can result in nothing less. Let every patriot and philanthropist pray devoutly
"On God, give us not over to self-destruction, nor into the hands of the Destroyer; but stay the flaming waves of destruction. Spare the heritage bequeathed to us by our fathers. Give the people power to appreciate their manifold blessing. Send us help, for vain is the help of man. Restore us our wonted peace at home and respect abroad. For in thy hand are the issues of life and death. Amen."

We hear it reiterated from the Halls of Congress, and from the Press, that politicians and the counselors of the Nation, are incapable to solve the problem of the present Crisis, and restore peace.
Our help lies in God. Amen.

the reckoning before an impoverished people, and before the throne of God, of that people or State who are willing to not compromise, but cut down the Tree of Liberty, and scatter its foliage and fruits to the four winds of heaven. Stop!
Stop! Think! Think! And all will be well.

A Poetic Fable For Secessionists.

A Columbus, Ga., M. D., in the column line, contributes to the New York Journal of Commerce the following:

Yankee Doodle took a saw,
With patriotic location,
To trim the Tree of Liberty,
According to his "notion."

Yankee Doodle on a limb,
Like mother-milk,
Cut down the tree and him,
And down came Yankee Doodle.

Yankee Doodle broke his neck,
Every bone about him,
And then the Tree of Liberty
Did very well without him!

A Discussion With Sticks.

A contractor who was building a tunnel
on a certain Ohio railroad, observed, one morning, that the face of a member of his gang had its surface all spotted with bruises and plaster.

"Ah! Jimmy," said he, "what have you been doing?"

"Not vary much, sir," answered Jimmy;
"I was just down at Billy Mulligan's last night, sur, an' him an' me had a bit of a discussion with sticks!"

fire of the 22d of February, in this place, feel compelled by the necessities of duty to express profound gratification at the extraordinary promptness with which our losses have been settled by this ever prompt Insurance Company, which we desire to commend to all who appreciate the value of a reliable indemnity and prompt payment when a loss occurs. The adjustors of the company have been in and out of our place, and as rapidly as losses could be properly determined, made up proofs and paid at once. We commend the Etna Company to all who wish a certain good policy—
Losses paid as we follow.
